The Next Steps of the COVID-19 Pandemic Returning to Work: What to Expect in the "New Normal"

Many of us have been working remotely during the Bay Area's Shelter in Place. As we move to the next stages of the Covid-19 pandemic, how do we transition from working remotely to safely returning to work? How do we continue to stay safe and productive? What will be the "new normal"? James Y. Wu, who has over 24 years of experience in counseling employers, will walk us through the next important steps and what we can expect when we start returning to the office.
