

September 29, 2020 Brown Bag Presentation

Workers' Compensation and Workplace Safety
In The Age of COVID-19
Presented by Ronald A. Peters, Esq.

Traditionally, workers compensation benefits cover employees injured at work or exposed to repetitive injury at work. Gov. Gavin Newsome signed several executive orders, modifying many California programs to address the issues, including workers compensation. Mr. Peters will discuss the current state of workers' compensation and workplace safety during the pandemic. Specifically, Mr. Peters will address the following topics:

- Workers' compensation coverage for COVID-19 if contracted in the workplace
- Current Executive Orders Governing Essential and Nonessential workers
- Changes to the law regarding presumptions and COVID-19
- Preparing and implementing a COVID-19 Response Plan
- Preparing a Hazard Assessment as part of your organizations Injury Illness and Response Plan.

Mr. Peters will also discuss what the future may hold in the world of workers' compensation and workplace safety, as we return to work.
